New hospital will honor slain trooper

By Catharin Shepard

Many years ago a life was taken on the same place along Highway 401 where now, lives might be saved. Cape Fear Valley Health System plans to honor the State Highway Patrol trooper who was gunned down in the line of duty on what is now the site of the hospital system’s Hoke County medical complex, according to officials.

North Carolina State Highway Patrol Trooper W.T. Herbin was shot and killed on the property on August 31, 1964 while he was conducting a traffic stop. When Herbin tried to arrest a drunk driver, the driver and one or more of the vehicle's three occupants resisted and severely beat Herbin, according to historical accounts. One of the vehicle's occupants took Herbin’s service revolver and shot the trooper in the head three times. All four suspects were arrested the same day. The driver and one of the suspects were convicted of first-degree murder and in December 1964 were sentenced to serve life in prison. The state Supreme Court ordered the release of one of the suspects less than a year later stating that evidence against the suspect was insufﬁcient. (See MEMORIAL, page 4A)

Hoke shoebox organizers hope to break record set last year

By Catharin Shepard

The local branch of Operation Christmas Child sent a record number of treat-packed shoeboxes to children around the world last year, and the group is hoping to do even better this year.

People in Raeford and Hoke County donated more than 1,500 shoeboxes full of toys, toiletries, school supplies and treats last Christmas, organizer L.S. Brock said. “That’s the best year we’ve had here in the 10 years we’ve been doing it,” he said.

Besides the items included in the boxes, there is also a special message that the Samaritan’s Purse–backed organization seeks to convey to children around the world: “The key to this shoebox, this shoebox is a vehicle to carry the message of Jesus Christ to the child,” Brock said. “There’s a booklet called ‘The Greatest Journey’ that’s in the shoebox, in the native language of the country where it’s going to be delivered. Besides the reward for the child, it’s to get that message to them there in that booklet.”

Brock ordered about 1,000 shoeboxes this year and has about 400 of them available at the Raeford Presbyterian Church if people need to pick one up. It’s also possible to use a plastic shoebox.

Hoke County’s newest park is set to open in a few weeks and will bring trails for walking, hiking and horseback riding. Canoeists will also be able to access Rockfish Creek. The Hoke County community forest is composed of more than 500 acres and is located on the outskirts of north Raeford on Vass Road.

Municipal elections typically see lower voter turnout than in years when there are bigger races locally and at the state and federal levels. This year voters in Raeford will select two candidates to serve a four-year term on the Raeford City Council. (See ELECTION, page 4A)
To the Editor:

I would like to say to each person personally what I will say to all of you later. I am writing on behalf of my family and my mother and father to say that Chad was arrested recently by the Hoke County, NC Sheriff's Office. We are extremely difficult to believe that this could happen to anyone that we know. In the past, the many patiens any provider could have had for a patient, your writers have labeled him as a wonderful person, hard-working, hard-working. This young man has been part of this community.

I am sorry for leaving you all a note. I am not sure if you are trying to stick some sort of balance between the truth here and what the family of Chad Blanks is trying to accomplish here. I am asking you all to please consider each and every patient their own. To every nurse on this floor that has touched the hand on everyone that walked through the doors of the hospital that day, you are a number of a being a member of that.

To the Editor:

You as a newspaper have a re- sponsibility to the public to be fair and unbiased. The small town that I live in is Raeford, NC. My name is Chad Lynn Blank and is un- fortunately being arrested today. So you can see how my family is feeling about this. I am asking you all to please consider each and every patient their own. To every nurse on this floor that has touched the hand on everyone that walked through the doors of the hospital that day, you are a number of a being a member of that.

He is a legend now and I tried to find this out for him. The ability. I believe Dr. Jordan asked me if I wanted to give. I don’t know if you have your own words for this. You have been told to your time of need. Hoke County.

Bucks play best game of year, fall short

By Hal Nunn

The Hoke County High School Bucks knew they had tock-head of them going into Laurinburg last Friday night to face the 40-ranked team in the state, Scotland County. The Fighting Scots had been finishing their opponents by an average 20.5 points per game and were putting up 45.9 points per game on average this season in their way to an epic defeat of 9-6.

"If our boys had played as they do," Coach Butts said after their post game talk to the team. "You can talk to me any night you just did and if we continue to play that way, good things will happen."

Good things could be that the Bucks play more as a team and that could happen if the Bucks win out. Hoke will have to focus on playing the top teams this Friday night or they take on the 2-7 Rams of Pembroke. The Rams two wins came against Red Springs (3-5-2) and North Brunswick (27-6). The Rams are averaging 18.2 points per game and have a decent passing attack.

Next week the Bucks will host Purnell-Swett at home for senior night. If the Bucks win, they could finish in third place in the South conference and that would guarantee them a playoff game and possibly about four playoff games. "That was the goal," Coach Butts said. "We have to focus on playing our game at a time."

If you are not making the trip to Pembroke Friday, catch the game live on the Bucks Broadcast Network on AM1400 WMFA or online at www.dexhgh.com/bucks/overustream.

Megan Munroe is in the hunt for the state championships, which were held at Pinehurst #6 in Southern Pines last week. Munroe did not shoot as well, but finished in second in the Southeastern Conference, at the state regional and in the state championships. The week before last, Munroe shot a 76 at the conference tournament and finished third in the Southeastern Conference. In the regional last week, Munroe didn't shoot well, but out of the 80 golfers, she was one of the last five to be selected for the state championships, which started at Pinehurst #6 and concluded yesterday after postponements.

At the top 10 in the state out of 80 golfers with a score of 76, she is the only underclassman in the top five overall. The competition at the state regional was second to none. Luck played a role in the early part of the week with a 102.
